

AMEU News

The AMEU News is a 24 page glossy newsletter style publication, that aims to communicate news and views within the industry. The publication also offers low cost advertising opportunities to our commercial members. The publication is edited and compiled by Max Clarke, the Publicity Secretary of the AMEU.

The publication is funded by the AMEU and by nominal charges raised for advertorial and advertising material supplied by members of the AMEU.

The publication is truly from the industry to the industry. The format is a readable one limited to 24 pages, offering members and interested parties a quick overview of industry, technological and management news from around the industry. It is a publication for those with limited time for reading but who do want to remain in the picture.

AMEU News is published three times per year. It is distributed to subscribers on a free of charge basis. Our circulation is around 2500 copies reaching municipal decision makers on municipal management level, civil engineering and electrical engineering levels as well as our Affiliate and Associate Members.
